

Sceptre Designs Portable and Stylish McCaron Bluetooth Speakers

City of Industry, CA- November 16, 2015- Wherever we go, we take music with us. Headphones fill the ears of almost everyone around us, regardless if we are traveling car, plane, train, boat, or by foot. As we steadily rush about, we need an audio device that is not only up for all the bouncing around, but that is lightweight in our hands and at our side. We have become accustomed to expecting powerful audio projection regardless of the size of the device. Enter the Sceptre McCaron Bluetooth Wireless Speaker. Taking its appearance from the French dessert of the same name, with slightly different spelling, the McCaron proves to be remarkably comfortable in the hands and conveniently portable on the move. When not being held, it hangs easily with a durable lanyard, which bears no burden at all because it barely weighs 3.04oz (.19lbs). The list of features is long compared to its minute size.

More than anything else, the McCaron performs its greatest service when connected to other devices via Bluetooth technology. It can be placed into nearly space, and allows the user to control it from 33 feet away, which will provide a comfortable usage perimeter around most homes, parties, or picnics! 6 hour battery life will be sure to last the duration of any event you host.

The stylish and portable speaker will be available in Mid-December, just in time to make the perfect holiday gift for everyone. The McCaron Bluetooth Wireless Speaker comes in three colors of yellow, pink, and blue. They can be purchased as a bundle of three or individually.
